

Khaled Ghannoum

For Aerospace Representative

Fueled by my passion for space and rockets, I'm a second-year Aerospace Engineering student with a proven track record in Carleton's engineering community—through the InSpace, connections with professors, and past service on the CSES board. If elected, I'll push for clearer lab manuals, ensure consistent course difficulty across semesters, and advocate for using university-provided resources instead of paid resources (Wiley plus) to reduce costs. I also plan to create exclusive Aerospace merch, better advertise CSES events, and make sure everyone's voice is heard. Let's build a stronger, more dynamic Aerospace community at Carleton—together!

